

Pixelworks Completes Acquisition of Jaldi Semiconductor Corporation

September 10, 2002

TUALATIN, Ore., Sep 10, 2002 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Pixelworks, Inc. (Nasdaq:PXLW), a leading provider of system-on-a-chip ICs for the advanced display market, today announced that it has completed the acquisition of Jaldi Semiconductor Corporation, a privately held fabless semiconductor company based near Toronto in Richmond Hill, Ontario.

Jaldi's technology will expand Pixelworks' product portfolio for the digital television market. Jaldi's high-performance reconfigurable DSP semiconductor designs include advanced features and outstanding picture quality for a new generation of standard and high-definition digital televisions.

The acquisition will be accounted for under the purchase method of accounting. Under terms of the acquisition, Pixelworks will issue 1.85 million shares of its Common Stock in exchange for all of the remaining outstanding shares and options of Jaldi Semiconductor Corporation. In January 2001, Pixelworks invested $7.5 million in exchange for a minority equity interest in Jaldi Semiconductor. Pixelworks expects to record a one-time charge in the quarter ending September 30, 2002 for purchased in-process research and development expenses related to the acquisition.

Safe Harbor Statement

The statements in the press release above are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such statements are based on current expectations, estimates and projections about the company's business. These statements are not guarantees of future performance and involve certain risks, uncertainties and assumptions that are difficult to predict. Actual results could vary materially from the description contained herein due to many factors including those described above and the following: business and economic conditions, changes in growth in the flat panel monitor, multimedia projector, and advanced television industries, changes in customer ordering patterns, competitive factors, such as rival chip architectures, pricing pressures, insufficient, excess or obsolete inventory and variations in inventory valuation, continued success in technological advances, shortages of manufacturing capacity from our third-party foundries, litigation involving antitrust and intellectual property, the non-acceptance of the combined technologies by leading manufacturers, and other risk factors listed from time to time in the company's Securities and Exchange Commission filings. In addition, such statements are subject to the risks inherent in investments in and acquisitions of technologies and businesses, including the timing and successful completion of technology and product development through volume production, integration issues, unanticipated costs and expenditures, changing relationships with customers, suppliers and strategic partners, potential contractual, intellectual property or employment issues, accounting treatment and charges, and the risks that the investment or acquisition cannot be completed successfully or that anticipated benefits are not realized. The forward-looking statements contained in this news release speak only as of the date on which they are made, and the company does not undertake any obligation to update any forward-looking statement to reflect events or circumstances after the date of this news release. If the company does update one or more forward-looking statements, investors and others should not conclude that the company will make additional updates with respect thereto or with respect to other forward-looking statements.
