COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT ON EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

Under rules established by the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), the Company is required to provide certain data and information regarding the compensation provided to the Company's executive officers. In fulfillment of this requirement, the Compensation Committee has prepared the following report for inclusion in this Proxy Statement.

COMPENSATION PHILOSOPHY. The Compensation Committee is appointed by the Board of Directors and is responsible for setting and monitoring policies governing compensation of executive officers. The Compensation Committee reviews the performance and compensation levels of executive officers, sets salary and bonus levels, and awards stock option grants for the executive officers of the Company. The objectives of the Compensation Committee are to correlate executive compensation with the Company's business objectives and performance and to enable the Company to attract, retain and reward executive officers who contribute to the long-term success of the Company.

Executive compensation is based on several general principles, which are summarized below:

- Provide competitive total compensation that allows the Company to attract and retain key executives.
- Link corporate and individual performance to compensation.
- Align the interests of executives with the long-term interest of shareholders through stock ownership opportunities in the form of stock options.
- Reward performance.

COMPENSATION COMPONENTS. The primary components of the Company's executive officer compensation program are base salaries, bonuses and stock options.

BASE SALARIES. Base salaries for executive officers are based on a review of salaries for similar positions requiring similar qualifications within the industry. In determining executive officer salaries, the Compensation Committee considers recommendations from management and the executive's experience, job responsibilities and performance. No specific weight is attached to any of these factors in establishing base salaries. For fiscal 2001 and future years, the Compensation Committee will continue to establish base salary levels for executive officers that are competitive with those established by companies of comparable size within the industry.

BONUSES. In determining executive officer bonuses, the Compensation Committee considers individual performance as well as the overall financial performance of the Company. No specific weight is attached to any of these factors in determining bonuses, although the Company's overall financial performance is generally weighted more than individual performance when determining an individual executive officer's bonus.

STOCK OPTIONS. The long-term, performance-based compensation of executive officers takes the form of option awards under the Company's 1997 Stock Incentive Plan (the "1997 Plan"), which is designed to align a significant portion of an executive officer's compensation with the long-term interests of shareholders. The 1997 Plan permits the granting of several types of stock-based awards. The Compensation Committee believes that equity ownership provides significant motivation to executive officers to maximize value for the Company's stockholders since stock options are granted at the current market price and will only have value if the Company's stock price increases over the exercise price. The Compensation Committee determines the size and frequency of option grants based upon the relative position and responsibilities of each executive officer, expected contributions of each executive officer to the Company and previous option grants to such executive officer.

COMPENSATION OF CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER. The Compensation Committee and the Board of Directors set Mr. Alley's compensation for the year ended December 31, 2000. The same criteria that the Compensation Committee used to set compensation for other executive officers was used to establish Mr. Alley's compensation. In addition, the Compensation Committee considered compensation of other executives of Mr. Alley's level of experience and recognized his individual performance and importance to the Company's performance.

TAX DEDUCTIBILITY OF EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION. The cash compensation to be paid to the Company's executive officers for fiscal 2001 is not expected to exceed the per officer $1 million tax deductibility limit of such compensation under the Internal Revenue Code. The exercise of nonstatutory stock options will qualify as performance-based compensation and, therefore, will not be subject to the $1 million limitation.
